HANOVER: The Whippany Park Marching Band held a "Pink Out" event in support of breast cancer research earlier this month. The Whippany Park Music Boosters sold special pink "Pride Gear" shirts to band members, friends, and family. The organization then donated all of the proceeds, as well as the cost of the shirts, toward breast cancer causes. The sale of the shirts brought in $1125, and students and family members wore their pink shirts to the October 12 Whippany Park football game.
